For the Attention of Southwest Idaho, Eastern Oregon Building Trades Council

Subject: Micron ID1 (Triton) Project
Article 13, Section 11 Travel Pay Changes

The Owner and Prime Contractor at Micron ID1 offer per diem pay to eligible workers. Per diem pay is provided to offer financial support to employees who must travel away from their primary residence for work purposes. This allowance helps to cover the additional costs incurred for lodging, meals, and incidental expenses during the period the employee is required to remain away from home. By providing per diem pay, the Owner and Prime Contractor aim to ensure that all employees are fairly compensated for the inconvenience and additional expenses associated with travel, fostering a balanced and supportive work environment that aligns with the principles of the Project Labor Agreement ("PLA").

In order to reduce ongoing confusion related to how and when the travel per diem for employees who do not live within 75 miles of the work site is paid, and to address concerns raised by various definitions of a workday both under the PLA and federal guidelines, the Owner and Prime Contractor are exercising their rights under Article 13, Section 11 Travel Pay, to decrease, discontinue, increase or otherwise change on thirty (30) days' written notice the per diem travel payment.

Accordingly, this letter serves as the required 30-Day Notice to change the current "$240 per workday travel per diem." Effective thirty days from the above date, the per diem travel rate will be updated as specified below. The Owner and Prime Contractor's intent is to address these questions definitively while ensuring all employees receive fair and equal treatment under the PLA.

The Owner and EPC Contractor seek to clarify that workers who do not live within 75 miles of the work site are eligible for the travel pay for each day, up to 7 days per week, the worker is away from home. The Owner and EPC Contractor have agreed to reduce the daily rate to $170 per day away from home. Should employees leave the area to return home or for other reasons not related to the Project, they will not be eligible for per diem. It will be the employee's responsibility to report their absence from the area.

After reviewing this letter, each member organization should acknowledge the changes by placing its signature below. Please contact Exyte Labor Relations with any questions or concerns.
